

SPECIAL COMMEMORATIVE EDITION

Entertainment
WEEKLY

WOODSTOCK '94

IN PICTURES

ALL THE BANDS
SEX
DRUGS
ROCK & ROLL

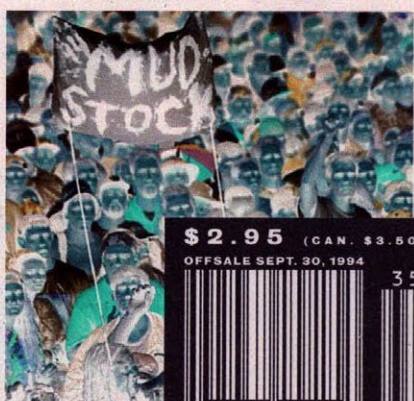

MUD
AND MADNESS

IN 64 PAGES OF UNFORGETTABLE

PHOTOS

$2.95 (CAN. $3.50)

OFFSALE SEPT. 30, 1994

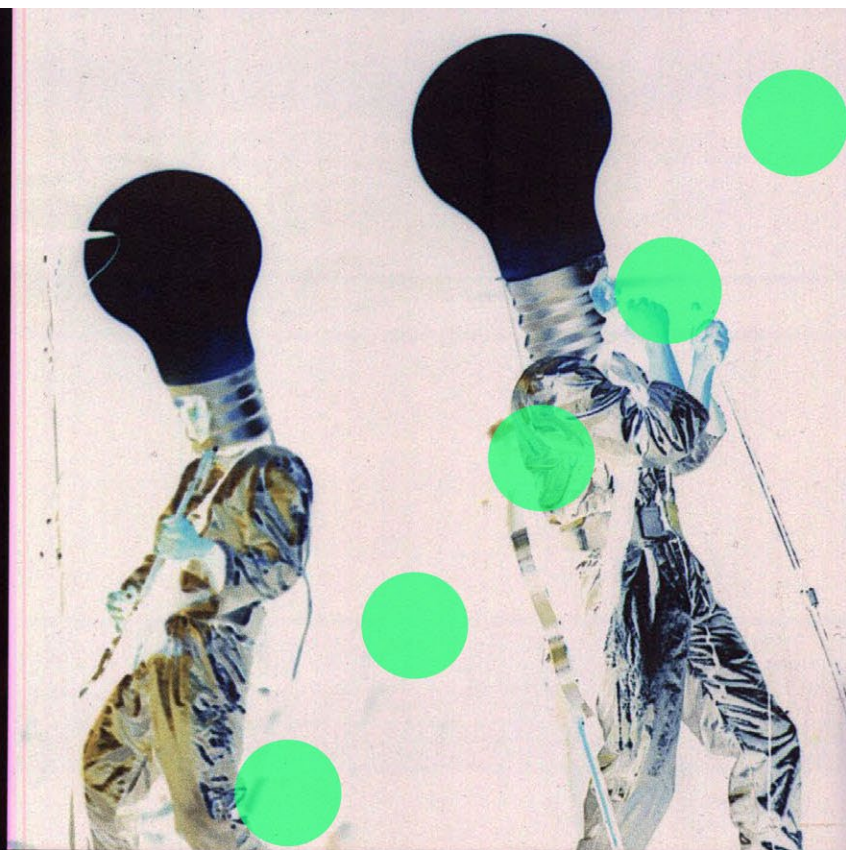

35

WOODSTOCK '94 THE MUSIC

GO
WHEN DYLAN
GOT BACKSTAGE,
IT WAS LIKE THE EMPEROR
ARRIVING.
THEY EVEN TOLD
TOM ARNOLD
TO GET OUT
OF THE WAY
-SHANNON HOON, BLIND MELON

As with the audience, rumors flew backstage (the Peace Patrol supposedly prevented Nine Inch Nails from bringing groupies onto their bus), but the best moments were certifiable: Weary Blind Melon frontman Shannon Hoon, under the assumption that his questioner would be Ted Koppel, was led off to yet another TV interview. When Hoon discovered that his interviewer was, in fact, portly New York weatherman Al Roker, the singer balked and attempted to moon the camera before being hurried away.