

BLIND MELON: Politically Incorrect and "Ignorant!"

Still reeling from the unexpected success of their self-titled debut release, the men of Blind Melon have other things to worry about besides being politically correct in this world of everybody watching their Ps and Qs and trying not to offend anyone.

In fact, vocalist Shannon Hoon couldn't care less. "I don't like to sit around and feel sorry for myself and the world around me," he expresses honestly.

"Yeah, there are a lot of problems that are never gonna be solved. I think about the future, but I don't like to sing about politics because I'm as ignorant about politics as the ignorant people who are involved in politics."

BLIND MELON: Politically Incorrect and "Ignorant!"

Still reeling from the unexpected success of their self-titled debut release, the men of Blind Melon have other things to worry about besides being politically correct in this world of everybody watching their Ps and Qs and trying not to offend anyone.

In fact, vocalist Shannon Hoon couldn't care less. "I don't like to sit around and feel sorry for myself and the world around me," he expresses honestly.

"Yeah, there are a lot of problems that are never gonna be solved. I think about the future, but I don't like to sing about politics because I'm as ignorant about politics as the ignorant people who are involved with politics."